

1. What is a tablet?

- a) A solid dosage form containing drug and excipients
- b) A liquid medicine
- c) An injection
- d) A cream

Answer: a

2. Which route avoids first-pass metabolism?

- a) Sublingual
- b) Oral
- c) Rectal
- d) Topical

Answer: a

3. What is an excipient?

- a) An inactive substance in a dosage form
- b) The active drug
- c) A type of disease
- d) A laboratory instrument

Answer: a

4. Which dosage form is applied to the skin?

- a) Ointment
- b) Capsule
- c) Syrup
- d) Tablet

Answer: a

5. What does USP stand for in pharmaceutical standards?

- a) United States Pharmacopeia
- b) Universal Safety Protocol
- c) United Standard of Pharmacy
- d) Uniform Sterile Process

Answer: a

6. Which of these is a parenteral route of administration?

- a) Intravenous
- b) Oral
- c) Sublingual
- d) Buccal

Answer: a

7. What is bioavailability?

- a) The fraction of drug reaching systemic circulation
- b) The potency of a drug
- c) The shelf life of a drug
- d) The toxicity of a drug

Answer: a

8. Which process removes water from a liquid to make a powder?

- a) Lyophilization
- b) Distillation
- c) Filtration
- d) Centrifugation

Answer: a

9. What is the purpose of a coating on a tablet?

- a) Mask taste and control release
- b) Increase weight
- c) Make it colored
- d) Reduce cost

Answer: a

10. Which of these is a quality control test for tablets?

- a) Disintegration test
- b) Taste test
- c) Smell test
- d) Color test

Answer: a

11. Explain the difference between a syrup and a suspension.

(Write your answer in the space provided.)

12. Describe the steps in the manufacturing of a tablet dosage form.

(Write your answer in the space provided.)